THE GERM FREE AUTOMATED ENVIRONMENT

TOUCHLESS.ie

For over 30 years Stern has been a pioneer in designing water saving sanitary products with cutting-edge infrared technology. They now have a worldwide network of local agents and distributors, providing sales support in over 80 countries.

Manufactured entirely in-house, their diverse range of products include electronic wall and deck-mounted faucets, touch-free soap dispensers, electronic flush valves for urinals and toilets, electronic shower controls, shower panels and vandal-resistant shower heads.

Stern also produces a large variety of components, including infrared sensors, piezo switches and solenoid valves. Their product quality has long been endorsed by ISO 9001 and they are proud that their technology and leadership continues to redefine industry benchmarks.

Stern plays a central role in bringing reliable, hygienic and eco-friendly electronic products to commercial and residential restrooms. Stern is committed to providing smart water delivery solutions that maximize water savings and points for LEED projects without sacrificing the comfort and convenience of the user experience or the durability and life.

ABOUT

green building and water-efficient products

Stern Engineering gives high priority to products that address today's water conservation concerns, as well as water quality and accessibility. With more than two and a half decades of specialization and experience, Stern's technology leads and set the industry norms.

Alongside the technological development, Stern plays a central role in reinventing the role of electronic faucets: from hygienic and water-saving products designed for public washrooms to reliable, safe and green products for the public and residential sphere.

We are committed to providing smart water delivery solutions that maximize water savings without sacrificing the users' experience or the products' durability and lifespan.
